

Where Are You?

Road 122

Everybody looks for someone else
Smiling to the solitude
After all, life is beautiful
But at night I'm alone

I know it will take time to find you
But I won't give up
Behind darkest clouds
Always hides the sun

I know that you exist somewhere
And I keep searching in the dark
A slight heat trying to fix the ice
And I still wonder, where are you?

I know that you exist somewhere
And I keep searching in the dark
A slight heat trying to fix the ice
And I still wonder, where are you?

It is really hard to explain
The magic of a closed window
The secret is to stop watching
And imagine what's beyond

Reaching the sunset of darkness
Waiting to see you faraway
Just to be finally complete
And I still wonder, where are you?

I know that you exist somewhere
And I keep searching in the dark
A slight heat trying to fix the ice
And I still wonder, where are you?

Reaching the sunset of darkness
Waiting to see you faraway
Just to be finally complete
And I still wonder, where are you?
